

Lecture series presented by Idaho Solutions

Join us for two thought-provoking lectures that explore the crossroads of civility, politics, and faith in today's world.

Time: 7 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.

Location: Rick Allen Room, Herrett Center, College of Southern Idaho.

Admission: Free and open to the public

September 22 “Beyond the Noise: Why Civil Discourse Still Matters”

With Keith Allred, National expert and founder of the CommonSense American initiative

- Discover how respectful dialogue can bridge divides in today's polarized world
- Learn practical tools to engage in meaningful, productive conversations—even on tough topics

Keith Allred

October 27 “A Cautionary Tale of Power, Politics and Religion: Viewing Politics Through a Christian Lens”

With Pastor Benjamin Cremer, Theologian and advocate for justice in faith communities

- Explore how faith intersects with political engagement in today's society
- Examine the historical and modern consequences of mixing political power with religious influence

Benjamin Cremer

Why Attend?

- Engage with timely, relevant topics that impact Idaho communities and the broader national conversation.
- Learn from nationally recognized speakers who offer insight, expertise, and real-world experience.
- Gain tools for respectful dialogue to help navigate complex issues in your personal, professional, and civic life.
- Be part of a solutions-focused community committed to civil discourse, shared values, and positive change.
- Walk away inspired to foster understanding—even when opinions differ.

Sponsored by:

